Statement of Peter C[redacted], Brimington, [redacted], who was witness to: Assault ([redacted]) aftermath.

What follows is from his/her point of view and the facts as he/she knows them. Parentheticals to be used for officer comments.

Where did you take her? Where the fck did you take her? I'm not answering any questions until I know she's safe. Fck you. No. Of course I want to help her. How? But I don't know anything. We picked up the call from dispatch about an injured woman in Dronfield town centre. I didn't expect…F*ck. I watched her grow up. Is she going to be OK? An old woman. She was holding Lucy's hand. She looked bad. The wounds were…they were black. Cracked and black, what could have done that? Oh God, she has to be OK. No, the old woman didn't say they were related. Well, yeah, I was in the back with her while Zoe drove so I called her home. Nobody. Not the first time, anyway. Her mum. I told her Lucy was hurt and we were taking her to the hospital. No, nothing else why does that matter? Where have you taken her? No, fck you have to tell me where she is! [interview concluded]
